MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Lawrence R. Houston

With respect to contracts for research and development of prototypes and new methods and processes which O. T. S. will enter into in the future, it appears that the Office of Procurement and Supply is chiefly interested in the business aspects of the contract and the financial standing and reliability of the contractor, while O. T. S. is primarily concerned with the technical ability to produce, and the interest of the contractor in the type of work to be done.

Consequently, it has been agreed that contractors for O. T. S. projects shall be chosen by mutual agreement between the Office of Procurement and Supply and the Office of Technical Services.
